

The Master Teacher is able to locate information on:

- ☐ When elections occur for local elected officials (such as the mayor and council members), state officials (such as members of the state legislature and the governor), and national officials (senators, members of the House of Representatives, and the President).
- ☐ Where these elections take place, what the local voting districts are, and the process of casting a vote, including the identification that is required and how to use a voting machine.
- ☐ What qualifications are necessary to vote -- the requirements of citizenship and residency.
- ☐ Specific issues, candidates, and offices up for election that may be available from organizations such as the League of Women Voters, political parties, newspapers, television or radio programs, candidate Web sites, and governmental Web sites.
